

From: Scott Burditt
Sent: 12 December 2003 18:44
To: BBC Charter Review
Subject: BBC Charter Review

What do you value most about the BBC?

1. Not having advertisers ram their stuff down your throats when you are trying to watch a program. Can anyone else but the BBC make ANY UK Science Fiction.

2. BBC makes more future classic tv than anyone else

3. You actually feel your money is well spent. It's quality not quantity.

How should the BBC adapt to cope with changes in technology and culture?

Pointless question, it already does. In some areas they are way ahead.

Should the BBC run commercial services?

No they don't need to.

How should we pay for the BBC?

The Licence fee is the fairest system. As paying per view or separating the BBC into content will mean those niche and sometimes great programs would never be made.