

From: Marc Cox
Sent: 17 December 2003 19:08
To: BBC Charter Review
Subject: Charter review

I do feel that the funding of the BBC is totally outdated. The fact that I do not get Sky Sports pictures if I do not pay the extra premium for it shows that the technology is already in place for the BBC pictures not to be sent to me should I choose not to pay the television licence. As it stands at the moment, we are forced to pay for the BBC channels even if we do not want them.

The BBC is running scared of giving the people to choose whether or not to receive their service (again using the technology which is already in place) as I think it would be very surprised to see just how many people would decide not to.

Sincerely

Marc Cox