

To whom it may concern:

I have recently been made aware of some new programmes that are planned to be played over the airwaves on BBC.

One is called 'Popetown' and the other, while I cannot recall the title, has something to do with 'Sex in the Vatican'.

These programmes are highly insensitive, and also offensive. It is not the type of high quality entertainment I would normally associate with the B.B.C. Putting such programmes on the airwaves risks insulting millions of Catholic people across both the United Kingdom and Ireland. Considering the crisis in the BBC at present, I hope this is not a sign of things to come. Yours faithfully,

Chris Eastwood
