

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am taking this opportunity as you requested to air my views concerning the BBC, one of your questions was, is the BBC organised in the most effective and efficient way such only the BBC is in the position to answer that question, I for one have no idea how the BBC operates. I believe it's only by being on the ground floor of any organisation can one make such judgements, I think there is room for some commercial services and you should continue with them.

I think that every organisation which operates on Public Finance should be answerable to the Public which could take the form of a committee composed of a cross section of the viewing or listening public which could meet on a regular basis.

I think too much time is devoted to sport and there are too many repeats but I must admit that drama and Historical programs put out by the BBC are of the highest quality although many programs are spoilt by the so called background music which in most cases drowns out the dialogue and is very distressing and frustrating. I have complained to the ITC and was informed that decisions concerning that is left to the programme producers.

I will close hoping these comments may be of some help

Yours Sincerely

John Estwell
