

From: JSJGALVIN
Sent: 16 December 2003 19:13
To: BBC Charter Review
Subject: Royal Charter Review

Allowing for the breath of the review, my concern would be that the BBC in essence retains it's function as a Public Broadcasting system, not subject to Government interference or subject to the pressures of advertsing.

For example would the BBC Worldwide service operate if subject to advertising pressures?

The world accepted standard that the BBC has should not be subject to Government interference.

If it is not broken don't fix it.....

It needs not fixing.....

J.S.Galvin