

From: Kathryn C Harper
Sent: 16 December 2003 18:33
To: BBC Charter Review
Subject: comment on review

As we become more and more a global community, networks like BBC become more important and more accessible. I am a US citizen who listens regularly to BBC to hear a little different perspective on world events. I would hope BBC would continue, and even more so, viewing the world through the British eye. It is very helpful and interesting to know how other culture's view common issues.

Oh, by the way a close friend just got satellite TV just so she could also view BBC.

Kathryn Harper