

Public Consultation

2.3.04

1) I value the news, educational programmes especially if they are "TEXT". I am very deaf so need teletext for all programmes.

2) No, I don't think the BBC should run commercial services.

3) Licence fee is fine.

4) The BBC's governors should be stricter with accuracy & impartiality. On discussion programmes, all sides should be represented.

In the last 2 years I think there has been a bias against Christian Harry sack that, recently I watched an excellent programme hosted by Jeremy Vine, which was very well done.

I do enjoy the "Percy" plays all texted with such colourful costumes. For the 'household', the Sunday services e.g. Favourite Hymns and Songs of Praise are well done even though the ratings may not be very high. They do serve an important section of the population

Keep up the good work!

Yours sincerely,

Mrs. Mary Kennedy

P.S. Sometimes the bad language ~~can be offensive~~. This does affect our younger generation who now think "swearing" is the norm.

Having taught children from 8-15 years, both here and in U.S.A. I know bad language & violence does affect them & their behaviour.
