Dear Sir/Madam,

here is my say, for what it's worth.

What I would LIKE to value about the BBC is it's news coverage. But this is difficult because I have constantly to "read between the lines" as my father once advised me or, as I have come to think of it, filter the bourgeois, liberal, social democratic propaganda of stupid white men, like our prime-minister, from the lies.

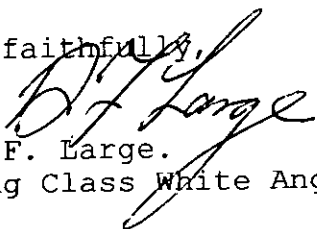

Unfortunately the BBC is one of the main organs for disseminating this brand of the "truth". The World Service for example, and one particular item from the bulletin of 7.55 am on Wednesday 26th., November 2003. It is hardly surprising the Scottish male reporter was too confused to attempt a definition of "anti-Semitism", especially when considering acts of Palestinians and other(?) Muslims. My understanding is that both Jews and Arabs are Semites. Indeed, we were informed by a later World Service broadcast that the most recent DNA research concluded that Palestinians have more in common, genetically, with Jews than they do with other Arabs. Not surprising since, as both are descendents of Abraham, they are, consequently, brothers. Both the reporter and the BBC news teams seem to have fallen for the Zionist propaganda line that denies this fact.

And I find it strange that there are Jewish "Settlers", but Palestinian "Refugees". Surely, the reason there are Palestinian Refugees is because of the Jewish "Squatters" occupying their land! And why is it that Hamas, Al Aqsa and previously Fatah, Black September and the Palestine Liberation Organisation et al, are "Terrorists" but the Israeli Destruction Force are not? Don't both sides indulge in murder and mayhem?

I also remember back in the '90's, it was at least TWO YEARS before the World Service started to refer to the mainly Muslim enclave of Bosnia-Herzegovina. My understanding, subsequently confirmed, was that there were always at least 200,000 Serbs, aside from Croats, Jews and Roma, present in the entity from the beginning, and probably many more.

All this isn't surprising given the BBC's brief to act as the organ of the dominant ideology, but it ought to be remembered that history has not always, and will not always, be written by "stupid white men". A proper appreciation of this fact might provide a way forward.

Yours faithfully,

David F. Large.
