enders going.

Dear Madam / Sir.

as I am not 'young' any more, I have experience of many years of BBC Television & Radio. I wish I really had some influence for future programmes.
However, here goes: -

Please do not spend money on subbisy programmes with the canned laughter, people are not laughing, i.e. - silly script, lavatory talk, bits of bad language, - even the young do not like these programmes.

Most people do really enjoy - BOOKS

that are serialised, with actors or actresses we recognise as being good good comedy programmes ("Fools & Horses".

"Frost", "Midsomer Murders", - they are always worth watching, or Caroline Quentin in "Life Begins" I.T.V.

9 PM Mondays - recently, unfortunately all on ITV channel, but you could do them. Helen Mirren in her programmes are so good & so are a lot of your mystery / murder efforts, as long as the script is good, or with faces we recognise on the screen.

Pleanty of sport please, all you can manage to show.

Keep BBC news independent of government, your news is well presented.

Radio 4 - very good programmes all day, thank you.

yours faithfully Mrs. D. Owens
