

THE BBC

If I just wanted football I could sit and watch them play, on Saturdays and Sundays - or any other day.

Snooker draws me potty, although the players look smart, but does one have to look a scruff to throw a little dart.

Then its tennis, golf or rugby, coming on behind - a little bit of culture is very hard to find.

There isn't ^{very} much I feel I'd really die to view, but when you are a woman there are other things to do!

But, anyway, the brutality and things that are too crude, get me feeling really mad as does language, very rude.

Young and old who cannot speak the English tongue too well -

I guess they've never learnt to speak or even learnt to spell -

So they don't realize that their talking is so bad - isn't it SAD?
