

Dear Mrs Jowell

BBC Charter Review

I am writing to support the view that, when the Charter is renewed, the licence fee should be continued.

Funding by direct government grant, by advertising or by sponsorships would compromise the BBC's independence.

I am most impressed by the way the "Today" programme has not altered its stance in the face of the intemperate attacks by the No 10 Press office! Could this occur under any other form of financing?

Yours faithfully
