

MONDAY 4 MARCH 05

Re: ADVERTISEMENT IN PAPER.

I'm taking this opportunity to express my opinion of the B.B.C.

Firstly it has been dumbed down so much, I'm hard pressed to find anything worth watching! Plenty of you are morons, but I thankfully are not in that category. I need some stimulating and thought provoking television. Each week I flick through my TV magazine and put rings round the programmes I find worth watching. With reference to the B.B.C, I'm finding it increasingly harder. Although tonight with 'Dan Cruickshank's Around the world well worth watching.

2.
I love his enthusiasm for his subject.

Tuesday evening 8 March, BBC 2 from 7.00 to 9.00, is acceptable!

Wednesday is just like with Adam Hart-Davis.

Thursday Nil.. Don't watch cooking shows, reality shows, or troublesome family shows. I don't care that entertainment! Again on Friday - nothing, will be on other channels.

Background music!

For the first time in my life, I had to switch off my "David Attenborough". How can loud background music be associated with wild life programmes, what idiot thinks this is appropriate! I couldn't hear the birds twittering, which is what these wild life programmes are supposed to be about. Light background music is sometimes appropriate, especially under water scenes.

Are you sure you wouldn't like to put background music, while the news is being read. That would keep us all oblivious to the world going on. And you could play Thunder and Lightning music while the weather forecast is on!

I think the B.B.C must have shares in the music industry.

I resent paying my T.V. licence, the price goes up, while the programmes get worse. One good thing is that I've now taken up reading again. It stretches my imagination in Peace and Quiet!

When I think of 4

What the B.B.C used to be like,
to what it is today, there is no comparison.

I am grateful for this opportunity to air my views.
Susan Ahmed.

P.S. I'm not a Digital viewer, don't want to be until I'm forced.

I'd RATHER HAVE "Quality" THAN Quantity ANY DAY.