

Dear Sir or Madam, 21/3/05
I noticed your ad in the British Daily Record about shaping BBC's future and what the punter wants.

Over the years I've got a bit dispendent with the programmes on both BBC & ITV because programmes such as Moxham & Wise, The Two Ronnes, Blackadder are being replaced by big brother programmes about idiots & nobodies getting into situations where they can't get on plus antique programmes by the load, and continuous soaps that demand constant following to keep up with the prolonged stories. God help anyone who goes abroad on trips due to their job! Couldn't catch up.

What happened to Amateur Boxing which we had in the 60s SCOTLAND V ENGLAND, WALES V IRELAND. These were live and excellent entertainment and Saturday wrestling. Now its nothing but football and occasional International Rugby.

Saturday by the way is a waste of viewing on both sides so I normally get a video in for the evening.

gives us more documentaries about different countries, ways of life, wildlife and not the tat shown at the moment.

I feel we are being ripped off paying for a licence thats not worth the viewing (most of the time).

I'm a piper ex Black Watch and used to do the summer competitions in grade 4 & 3. I've never seen any documentary about a day in the competition scene for pipe bands. BBC Scotland would take on this one. Not enough about the history of our country (ie Scotland) I could go on forever.

I hope you get my drift!!

Yours sincerely,

Charles Cameron CARRUTHERS.
