

Steven Edwards

16 March 2005

Rt Hon Tessa Jowell

Re: BBC Charter Review Green Paper

I note that the Green Paper states that the licence fee remains I would like to make it known I do not agree with this and would like it scraped because of the immorality on the BBC TV such as the Jerry Springer Opera etc. Let it be paid for by subscription so that those hope wish to watch such programmes should pay for them and not the rest of us who are appalled by them.

I also do not receive any British broadcast TV either terrestrial or by the Sky dish however there are many people who do receive EWTN which is broadcast from abroad and will not pay a licence fee. I would like to have the fee removed for these people. It is like shopping at Tescos and paying for those goods at the next Safeways.

Yours faithfully

A handwritten signature in cursive script, appearing to read 'Edwards', written in black ink.