To D.C.H.S.

Dear Sirs,

I was interested to read of your request for opinions of the B.B.C. programmes. Well, as far as I am concerned, they are getting worse every month.

I particularly get annoyed with the number of book sales, Flog its, Auctions etc, and for the number of houses dealers, auctions, decorators transformations, buying overseas houses, How boring can you get?

The first time these programmes are shown they are enjoyable, but not when they go on month after month, after that, ITV, or vice versa at times, get on the board wagon & we get the same boring programmes every day. Last week I counted nearly every day 5 or six of the above mentioned programmes one after the other. My friends all say the same, you are Boring.

In my opinion there are far too many children's programmes in the morning. It is an easy option to plant little ones in front of the T.V. Parents these days are too lazy to entertain their own children or take them out walking.

I'm glad to see "Inspector Lynley" is coming back. Could we have a Few more good plays & dramas?

At least you haven't reached the pits as regards Channel 4, which is disgraceful, with filthy language & behaviour.

I may have given you the impression that I am a miserable old woman, I'm not, just an ordinary disabled woman who doesn't get out much & there are millions like me, who like to be entertained, not disgusted by bad language & lazy slang and badly formed speech.

I would mention also that we don't want to watch a film about the FTPL in New York, we have enough of our own that, you very much.

Mastermind, University Challenge are excellent, but do you know what I really like? It's that wonderful "Q" on BBC 2, its articles are hilarious, who on earth invented it? Please congratulate him for me!

Yours sincerely

Peggy Fletcher (Mrs)
