Dear Sir,

I am writing in response to the notice in the Mail a couple of weeks ago. 'YOUR BBC, YOUR SAY'.

Both my wife and I are in our eightyfifth year so obviously are not interested in Pop. We do appreciate that you have to provide entertainment for all ages, we think our age group are left way behind.

Saturday nights are a 'turn off' for us as wildly excitable shows - around the Lottery, are too noisy.

There used to be the odd 'Palm Court' musical programmes on when we could sit back and enjoy nostalgic tunes. We like quizz's (but not too many of them.) Also programmes like 'The Bill' are too gorey. Nature films are a must, but Soaps are a big turn-off.

We think the D.B.C.'s overall demeanour has slipped, we appreciate we can never go back to evening dress for Newsreaders, but things have now reversed and it is 'anything goes'. John Humphries sets a perfect example how to dress, he looks impeccable on 'Mastermind'

We used to enjoy our D.B.C. but times have changed and really there is very little to watch and enjoy. Sorry to be such a wet blanket but there it is.

Yours faithfully.

Anthony KIMMISTER

P.S. My apologies for typing this letter, I have a disabled shoulder.

We also love Wimbledon - excellent!
