

Dear Sir/Madam

I am writing to complain about the amount of music that is now being played in most of your programmes.

We are being swamped with it now and taking away the pleasure of watching.

Why oh why do you need to play any music at all in programmes like DOCUMENTARIES or WINDLIFE?

which is usually louder than the narrator, so you can't hear what they are saying.

If you must have music, why can't this be played as a background, also all these repeats I can understand why you have to repeat programmes. But why do you have to keep repeating the same old ones all the time?

Why can't we have some variation of those that have not been played for some time?

Yours Sincerely
H Lewington
