

How on earth can the B.B.C. keep putting up the licence fee and expecting the paying public to keep switching on to see the same old rubbish you show week in and week out. The standard of B.B.C. television is nothing but crap. It looks to me that the money you rob off us is to pay the overrated so called stars. Mind you the rest of T.V. is no better. The B.B.C. might make a few good programmes but they are very few and far between. I still ^{think} that the B.B.C. is overstaffed. For a start I don't think that it takes ~~two~~ two people to read the midweek 6.0'clock news. One should be enough. It does not need three or four ~~it~~ deadbeat footballers to do "match of the day" and I am sure that it does not need five deadbeats to give us the football results on a Saturday. In both cases one person is enough. Who the hell wants to listen to that lot waffling on about nothing but rubbish. I am sure that Ray Stubbs can give us the football results on his own. It looks as if it is "jobs for the boys". Another waste of time is the Saturday night lottery draw. It should only have the same time on T.V. as the midweek draw because people only want the winning numbers after all. Even the digital box the B.B.C. advertise is only a con and waste of money. If you can't get enough good programmes for BBC 1 & 2 how can you expect to find anything for the new box. The T.V. licence is definitely a waste of good money. I don't think I will bother any more. Mrs. G. Naughton. Cheshire

P.S.

I notice that you are going to waste more of our hard earned money and have another ex footballer talking the same rubbish as the rest of them by giving a soft job to Alan Shearer. I am glad that I don't watch much on B.B.C. or any other channel any more. It is a bit of a bummer when I find that Q.V.C. is more interesting than the rest of T.V. The sooner B.B.C. starts advertising the better and save us all a lot of money then we would not have to throw good money away on a T.V. licence
