

Dear Sir,

With reference to your advert in the paper I would like to raise a few points.

Please govern the volume of sound used in your programmes and between programmes. We were told years ago when attending any questions that you had more complaints about this than anything else so why hasn't anything been done about it?

Don't dumb everything down, there are intelligent people watching or listening. Why can't there be more programmes that are suitable for families to watch together?

Do not let the new Charter be governed by the Politicians - We are capable of thinking for ourselves.

The constant background music which often has no relevance to the programme is very intrusive.

Make sure that programmes for children are really suitable for children, we do not want children to grow up too soon.

We enjoy a mixture of all the various channels with radio inbetween and listening to C.D's and records and playing cards and reading.

My husband particularly enjoys the sport programmes

We do not own a computer as there are not enough hours in the day to fit everything in but we do use the facilities at the library.

Yours Sincerely.

B K Page (Mrs)
