Dear Sirs

Reference your recent advertisement asking the public for their comments.

Generally the BBC produces some very good programmes but I now strongly resent having to pay £121.00 per year to support it, particularly when it wastes £1000's on taxi fares and parties for all and sundry.

I totally oppose paying £60,000 for a bird on a stick and paying thugs and criminals to appear on programmes.

Programmes like Eastenders are becoming more and more objectionable and certainly do NOT represent life as I know it - thank God.

The BBC is hopelessly politically biased but cannot change whilst Labours is in power.

If it were independent Cambell would not have been able to bully it over the murder of Dr. Kelly.

It shows far too many repeats.

Little Britain is sick; Question Time audiences appear to be rigged - I've been in one!

Scrap the so called licence fee - it is a TAX - and let the BBC stand or fall on its own.

Yours faithfully
Peter Westrip
