

March 28th 2005.

Dear Sir/Madam,

Your advertisement asks for views on TV for the future. Here are my main requests:

- 1) More documentary type programmes.
- 2) Less on property and cookery - we have had a surfeit of these.
- 3) More programmes like 'This Land', showing us an area of Britain or abroad in detail.
- 4) A sharing of regional programmes - e.g. Anglia does good ones travelling round the region, so does Yorkshire.
- 5) More alternatives to sport in the summer for the many who don't watch sport.
- 6) An improvement in photography - NO MORE GIMMICKS! - so many of us hate the quick flashes, fading out, whizzing round and speeding up of the film. We have to shut our eyes until the change in music tells us it is over.

7) We would like to be able to communicate with BBC TV in the way we now can with the excellent BBC Radio 4. Letters to TV with queries, comments or ideas for programmes are not answered.

8) Finally, we would like BBC TV to listen to viewers' opinions and not to oppose them because they think theirs are better. As the advert. says, we pay.

Yours faithfully,

Pat Wildsmith.
