From MR. K. J. WILLIAMS

Dear Sir

I'm writing to complain about the National Lottery on BBC1. First of all, it should not be shown on BBC1 as the National Lottery is a commercial company and the BBC should not be entertaining that company of which the Queen of England is a main share holder at present time you are showing Jet set show Saturday nights and the licence holders have to pay for the contestant to go around the world and that is unfair, also the lottery is being shown at about 2235 on Wednesday nights, this program should be shown as a repeat program as it is all recorded earlier, PTO and also Eamon Holmes who works on GMTV Early in the morning, and is also working on BBC1 at 22-35 Wednesdays and 19.40. on Saturdays no wonder he is quitting GMTV because he wants a Rice Job on BBC1, and also since he has been doing the lottery there has been to many Roll over, and its time to bring back the correct time for the lottery to be shown at 20-00. and that is 30 minutes after they stop selling the tickets, By the way havnt you notice the sales of tickets have dropped since Eamon Holmes has been working on the lottery and also we want to see more films at Prime time TV. Not at 01-30. the next day, when you read this letter, Read again and again, and do something about it. your Truly,

T. J. Williams
