Dear Sirs,

B.B.C. Charter Review.

Could you please send me more information on the White Paper & Draft Charter & Agreement.

I own my own portable colour t.v. and pay on a plastic card each fortnight to TV Licensing cash easy entry, the sum of £5 for my t.v. license, my card number being:

I do not have "Gale" or "Sky" t.v., just the local BBC1/2, ITV1 & S4C (which is the Welsh channel, I do not speak Welsh, and so I normally watch B.B.C.1 or B.B.C.2, and sometimes ITV1.

I am a Danish citizen, and have only a single persons' pension + pension credit, I have no other source of income, and on the 1st June next, I shall be 65 years old.

I would also like to know more details on digital t.v. and the cost in all, and whether or not I am able to afford digital t.v. when it comes into operation from 2008 to 2012, I have already written to TV Licensing cash easy entry, but to date have received no acknowledgment

If I cannot afford to buy digital t.v. and its licence, what will happen to the fortnightly payments of £5 I am already paying?

I should be very grateful if you can put me wise on the above matter, your leaflet BBC Charter Review has come from Abergawenny library.
Awaiting your favoured reply,

Yours sincerely,
Helen Grainger (Miss).

P.S. I am originally from Cardiff (South Glamorgan), but retired to live in Abergawenny, Carmarthenshire just over 11 years ago, as my late mother was born in Newport (Gwent).
