

Sent: 14 November 2005 09:55
To: IT Strategy Project Team
Subject: Transformational government

Having read the out line strategy - the strategy talks of skills and competency frame works for IT staff and staff.
The NHS currently have an competency based IT skills frame work - it was written in 2002/3. It identifies all staff groups and identifies the range of competencies each group should have, including IT staff. Your team might want to tap into that frame work first before writing another one - as it would be very easy to transfer across to local government.
Look forward to seeing more on the Personnel section of the strategy.
Regards
Claire

Claire Livingstone
Change Manager