

Hello, I have read with interest the above consultation document. I spent some time filling in the word version but found I regularly came up with similar responses.

I feel there needs to be a link with people who use alcohol to lower inhibition, for acts of abuse, date rape etc. And more importantly those who use alcohol to numb/ block the pain, victims and survivors of abuse. Generally I felt from reading and responding to the word version that some education for target groups is needed. I am not aware of the resources available but think the drink drive campaign over christmas was effective.

I also am aware the small posters used in public/ education buildings toilets! achieve discussion.

Michele Hembling