

it is a crime that Digital 1 should be allowed to reduce any of it's radio services to a mono output. and, for what? tv on a PHONE?!

in the world we live in today, who's going to stand at a bus stop and watch the tv on a phone? within five minutes some chav scally will be off with said phone, thanking the user for his/her incompetence!

at the end of the programme the phone will ring, and as the thief goes to say "hello" the battery will die.

this absolutely should not be allowed to disturb listeners of ANY Digital1 service. we are asked to stump up big bucks for these new radio sets when, in fact, it looks like we'd have been better off buying a classic old am/fm one off Ebay!
