Dear Tessa,

THE BBC'S SUBMISSIONS TO THE SECRETARY OF STATE'S REVIEWS OF OUR NEW DIGITAL TELEVISION AND RADIO SERVICES

I enclose the BBC's submissions for these reviews. As you will see, we have provided overview papers for both digital radio and television which seek to summarise the performance of the new services, their contribution towards the BBC's public purposes as part of the BBC's portfolio of services, and their plans for the future. These papers also act as an introduction to separate papers for each service which assess its performance in greater detail. We also enclose for both radio and television an independent market impact study by Mark Oliver of Oliver & Ohlbaum.

The Executive Committee and the Board of Governors have taken a very close interest in the review of these services and the Governors have also prepared a Foreword to these documents, which I also attach.

We look forward to discussing these submissions with you and your chosen reviewers in due course.

am,
Richard

Richard Ryder
