Dear Ms.Jowell,

I am writing in support of the BBC's proposed Urban Music digital radio station. As the man responsible for signing and developing many of the UK's top Urban acts (including Loose Ends, Maxi Priest and Soul II Soul) I know that such a station would be immensely popular and act as a focus for the young British Urban music fans. As a result of this many more UK acts would be successful here increasing their chances abroad hence bringing our music to the attention of people around the world,

Yours Sincerely

Mick Clark
