Tessa Jowell MP Broadcasting Minister

I am the leader of a small Christian Fellowship in the small town of Ilminster in Somerset. I understand that you are seeking views on lifting the ban on Christian applying for broadcasting licences.

I am quite convinced that if you do lift the ban the standard of broadcasting on a moral level would be improved tremendously. If there are regularly heard voices that not only proclaim the Christian message but also put a Christian slant on political, social, national/international and entertainment/sporting issues of the day would help the debates to be constructive.

I obviously have a vested interest but none the less it would be good for all those listening or watching to know that they can trust what is being presented as true and accurate without favour to anyone.

I do hope that you will hear what is said and lift the ban.
