Subject: CHRISTIAN MEDIA
Dear Ms Jowell.

As a Christian in Britain today I want to have the freedom to change to a channel or to listen to a radio station that is enriching, enlightening and enjoyable. A channel or station that is free from music or discussion which I find offensive and contrary to my views as a Christian.

These can only be provided I believe, by you doing all that is within your power to remove the ban that presently exists for Christian media groups to have national broadcasting licences.

If this happens then I can sit at home, drive in my car, or even walk along the street and watch or listen to programmes that will enrich my faith. This will help me to be better citizen and a power for God and good to help in some way to make Britain GREAT once again.

Therefore I urge you to take heed to this request and to similar from many other Christians throughout the land. Already a number of Christian bodies are standing by. They are more than willing to rise to the challenge to provide quality and wholesome Christian media services. All they wait for is the yes from your department to make their dream and vision a reality.

Yours sincerely

Rev Steve Mitchell
