

-----Original Message-----

Sent: 11 July 2006 00:19

Subject: Restitution of objects spoliated in the nazi-era

Dear Sir

I agree that the law should be changed to allow any works of art stolen by the nazis to be returned to their rightful owners. The continuing heartache and frustration caused to families affected by the loss of, i would imagine, objects, not only of financial worth but also linked to lots of memories, would be intolerable. This misery should be ended as soon as possible, after all, lots of these people must be very old by now.

Many thanks

Fiona Fuller