

I understand that the major record companies and Cliff Richard are waging a campaign to extend the music copyright from 50 to 95 years. this is appalling and must be stopped before it starts - it will spell the immediate death of modest labels specialising in vintage recordings which are enjoyed and bought by thousands of older people.

Antony Howard.