

Dear Mr Gower,

I would like to add my name to the long list of people who are objecting to the extension of copyright limitation from 50 years to a longer period. I strongly believe that 50 years is the correct period for copyright and anything over this time will limit our enjoyment of music which would otherwise be lost. I write on behalf of ordinary people without the power of the likes of Cliff Richard and Elton John so that our voice can be heard. I am happy to answer any question you may have.

With best regards, Soon Ong
