

Having just heard about this proposed legislation I am writing to express my considerable concern over the proposed extension. It seems that this will prevent many minority interest recordings from being made available to those of us who might wish to hear them. Large companies own many of the copyrights to old folk, jazz etc recordings, and they are not interested in re-releasing them.

Who is pressing for this legislation and where can I find out what is the rationale behind this?

Susan Bell