6.2(vii) Gambling Commission

The Gambling Commission came into existence on 1 October 2005 and from that date took over the duties and functions of the former Gaming Board for Great Britain.

The aim of the Commission is to implement the reforms introduced by the 2005 Act, and to promote the three objectives spelt out in the Act: to keep gambling crime-free, to ensure that gambling is conducted fairly and openly, and to protect children and other vulnerable persons.

More information on the Gambling Commission can be found at www.gamblingcommission.gov.uk

6.2(xx) Sir John Soane's Museum

The Sir John Soane's Museum displays the antiquities, furniture and paintings collected by the architect Sir John Soane in the house he designed for his private residence in Lincoln's Inn Fields. The house is kept as it was at the time of the architect's death in 1837. The Museum aims to care for Sir John Soane's House and Museum and its diverse collections, designated as of pre-eminent national importance, providing free access to them and encouraging educational benefit with particular reference to the architectural collections and architecture generally.

More information on Sir John Soane's Museum can be found at www.soane.org
