

BUSINESS AND SUSTAINABILITY SUMMIT 2006

Sydney, 23 October 2006

produced by Environment Business Australia

hosted by PricewaterhouseCoopers

The economics of sustainability

Transition in the global economy

$21 trillion change agent

Financing the tools of change

Production, consumption, security - value the asset or watch it atrophy

Local projects - defying inaction

President of the world for a day - what would you do?

01. DRAFT PROGRAM - speakers to be confirmed

8.30 Registration and coffee

8.50 Transition in the global economy

Session Chair - TBA

9.00 Welcome - Robert Purves, Chairman, Environment Business Australia

9.30 Opening Address - Paul Anderson, CEO, Duke Energy, USA

10.00 International Address, James Cameron, Chair, Carbon Disclosure Project

10.30 Morning coffee

11.00 Production, consumption, security - value the asset or watch it atrophy

How do countries and business build a competitive edge and a secure future based on sustainability and good environmental management

Session Chair - TBA

11.00 Sir Mark Moody Stuart - Chairman, Anglo-American

11.30 John Stewart - Managing Director, National Australia Bank

12.00 Malcolm Turnbull - Parliamentary Secretary to the Prime Minister

12.30 Lunch

12.55 Introduction by - TBA

1.00 Lunchtime keynote address - Sir Nicholas Stern, author of the Economics of Climate Change prepared for the UK Government. What is the cost of addressing climate change

2.30 Financing the tools of change - panel session

Session facilitator: Tony Jones (Lateline) or Kerry O'Brien (7.30 Report)

- Making sure the market understands
- New technologies

- Investment in infrastructure
- Investment in the environment asset base
- Influencing the rapid growth markets of China and India

Gary Levin, Managing Director, Babcock & Brown Environment

Mike Hawker, Managing Director, IAG,

Tony d'Aloisio, Managing Director, Australian Stock Exchange

John Ellice-Flint, Managing Director, Santos

3.40 Afternoon tea

4.00 Blue sky with tools. If you were President of the World for a day....

- what sweeping changes would you make? Some pragmatic visionaries share their plans for sweeping changes and outline the opportunities to be siezed and the impediments to be removed.

Session facilitator: Tony Jones (Lateline) or Kerry O'Brien (7.30 Report)

Mike Rann, Premier of South Australia and Minister of Climate Change

Ken Henry, Secretary to the Treasury

Malcolm Turnbull, Parliamentary Secretary to the Prime Minister

Maria Atkinson, Global Head of Sustainability, Lend Lease,

Peter Cullen, Water Scientist and member of the Wentworth Group

Evening (also hosted by Pricewaterhouse Coopers at Darling Park)

6.00 Cocktails and opening of the "Atmospheric Art Gallery" - opening speaker TBA

7.00 Dinner

Master of ceremonies - TBA

8.00 Dinner address - Lord John Brown, CEO, BP