

COP 005

13 JAN 2010

Professor Sir Ian Kennedy
40 House of Commons
Westminster
London

7th January 2010.

Dear Sir Kennedy

MPs' Expenses

Public Sector workers are paid less as it is a "vocation".

Why if the salary is deemed low are there waiting lists of people wanting to be MPs and get all 4 of my children have not had teachers in subjects such as Maths, physics, Chemistry, French, German, Drama etc; including for GCSE and A'level?

MPs should have 2nd homes if they live more than 1 1/2 hours away from London but why do they keep them when they are no longer MPs - they should be sold and the money paid back.

Wives should be paid but their salary published.

Why are MPs exempt from the law?
They should be fined as well as paying the money back, and some should be sent to prison.

Peers & Who are cheating the system
Should lose their titles, and not be allowed to sit in the House of Lords, see, it is an honour and not charge. Their behaviour is disgusting when so many people are volunteers.

There should be the same redundancies as everyone else - How many jobs now guarantee your job for 5 years? Very, very few.

Their pensions should be the same as everyone else - no family panel, no furniture and any expenses claimed should be taxable

I am ready to revolt. Why do they need highly paid people to look into their expenses? I think you would find a panel of ordinary people would come up with a fair solution.

Yours Sincerely

Amanda Gore.

MRS. T. GORE
