Dear Sir,

Re MP's being threatened with court action for allegedly falsifying expenses claims.

If these people are as innocent as they keep saying then why not go to court and let the whole world see how they are being victimised instead of hiding behind Parliamentary privilege. Surely a person in such a high position should have great faith in our justice system & have the guts to stand up & be counted.

My main problem is how can anyone not know when their mortgage has been paid up - don't they check bank statements before putting a claim of this nature - I am an 80 yr old pensioner - I know what I have paid out - what I owe. After all the money a M.P receives is tax payers money and as such should be treated with respect and not a bottomless pocket.

Stop hiding behind another apron strings - fight your case - take the punishment after all at the end of your term of office the pay off will be very nice, thank you!

Yours in disgust
