

Cope 10

10/01/10

I am writing to voice my strong views regarding Sir Ian Kennedy's proposals for reforming the rules regarding MP's expenses. After a thorough investigation Sir Christopher Kelly issued his report to reform the disgraced expense system and his recommendations were accepted in full by all the party leaders. Sir Ian Kennedy's proposals are an insult to taxpayers who fund these expenses.

MP's should not be allowed to profit from properties bought by taxpayer's money, as the original report stated MP's should use rented accommodation as do all other public servants.

All employment vacancies should be filled in accordance with civil service guidelines, i.e. picking the best applicant, employing family members is open to abuse of taxpayer's money.

The electorate will not be satisfied if the Kelly report is not implemented in full as this was in my view fair to taxpayer's.

Would you please ensure that these views are passed to Sir Ian Kennedy.

Mary Blackman

