Becoming an adoptive parent

If you want to take time off work to support your partner who is adopting a child you may be entitled to

- Statutory Paternity Pay (SPP) - at least part of your wages will be paid for two weeks. You will get the weekly rate of SPP current at the time of your paternity leave, or 90% of your average weekly earnings, whichever is less.

- Paternity leave - up to two weeks time off.

Depending on your circumstances you may not qualify for SPP and/or paternity leave. Your employer will let you know. If this is the case you will get more advice and information at the time.

If you need help with this form please contact any HM Revenue & Customs office. Look up ‘Inland Revenue’ or ‘HM Revenue & Customs’ in your local phone book.

Please read through the terms and conditions on page 2 and if you think you might qualify, then

- fill in page 3, and

- give the completed page to your employer.

Other help

The Department of Trade and Industry (DTI) publication Adoptive Parents - rights to leave and pay - a guide for employers and employees gives information on these rights. For details of other booklets covering employment protection and related equal opportunities legislation, see www.dti.gov.uk/workingparents

Go to www.dwp.gov.uk for details of social security benefits.

You can also contact

- any HM Revenue & Customs office
- any Advisory Conciliation and Arbitration Service (ACAS) office (see www.acas.org.uk for details)

Information on all aspects of employment legislation is also usually available from any Citizens Advice Bureau, low pay units and Trade Unions.

If you are not entitled to SPP you should contact your adoption agency to find out if you can get any other help.
You must discuss your leave plans with your employer and tell them what time off you want within seven days of the date the adoption agency told the person adopting the child that they have been matched with the child. You can change your mind, but you must give your employer 28 days notice of the new date. You and your employer may find it helpful if you fill in a new version of this form.

If you cannot tell your employer what time off you want in time, please discuss the situation with your employer. For example, sometimes a child is matched and placed very quickly. If you are unable to resolve any disagreement contact any HM Revenue & Customs office for advice.

Disagreements

If your employer tells you that you are not entitled to SPP and/or paternity leave you can challenge that decision. If you need help with this, for

- SPP - contact your HM Revenue & Customs office
- Paternity leave - contact Advisory Conciliation and Arbitration Service (ACAS), on helpline number 08457 47 47 47. In Northern Ireland, contact the Labour Relations Agency on 028 9032 1442.

Penalties

Penalties may be charged where a person, either fraudulently or negligently, gives incorrect information or makes a false statement or declaration for the purpose of claiming entitlement to Statutory Adoption, Paternity, Maternity or Sick Pay.
