

Knowledge of Rosemary Nelson

26. I was aware of who Mrs Nelson was although I did not know her personally. I must have been the prosecuting officer in Court in relation to some of the same cases she was dealing with at one time or another. To begin with, I believe that Mrs Nelson's relationship with police generally was friendly and she was on good terms with them. My recollection is that some police officers recommended her as a solicitor to use in relation to domestic violence cases.
27. At some later stage, Mrs Nelson's relationship with the police changed. I recall that I became aware of this change after it had already taken place. I believe that Mrs Nelson became very anti police and was instead the type of solicitor who did not communicate freely with the police. She communicated by letter as referred to earlier in this statement. I think that this may have begun after Rosemary Nelson undertook a number of high profile cases. These included her representation of Colin Duffy although I am sure there are plenty more cases she was involved with.
28. I have been asked by those interviewing whether I ever heard any officers make any derogatory remarks about Ms Nelson or threats against her. I can confirm, absolutely not.
