

- [redacted] to provide an update and lines to take on Mrs Nelson's case. The briefing records that Commander Mulvihill from the Metropolitan Police was approved as an investigating officer into these complaints. I do not recall that Adam Ingram was involved at all with the recommendations made in the submission.
18. Mo Mowlam wrote to Jane Winter at British Irish Rights Watch ("BIRW") on 14 July 1998 RNI 106.251-253 [redacted] in response to Ms Winter's letter to her dated 10 March 1998 referring to the case of Mrs Nelson and the United Nations Special Rapporteur's report. This was copied to the Minister's Private Office for his information.
19. John Steele, Senior Director, Belfast in the NIO, sent a submission to the Private Secretary to the Secretary of State dated 22 July 1998, which was copied to the Private Secretary to Adam Ingram, amongst others RNI 106.256-257 [redacted]. The submission was about whether Commander Mulvihill's investigation would cover the ICPC's concerns about the original investigation as well as the complaints. Again, apart from being aware of this issue, I have no particular recollection of the matter. I do not recall there being any policy discussions with Adam Ingram on it. There were some meetings when a Private Secretary to a Minister would not have been present. For example, if the Secretary of State chaired a meeting then her staff would have been in support.
20. G116 [redacted] of Political Affairs Division in NIO sent a memo to Mrs [redacted] and Mr Perry on 23 July 1998 RNI 305.148.500-502 [redacted], copied to the Private Secretary to Adam Ingram. On the second page the memo states that Breandan MacCionnaith requested that an NI official contact him to discuss the personal security of the GRRC. The document was copied to the Private Secretary to Adam Ingram, amongst others, for information.
21. Mo Mowlam wrote to Ronnie Flanagan, the Chief Constable, on 27 July 1998 in connection with Commander Mulvihill's investigation RNI 106.262-263 [redacted].
