News and Alerts

This section contains the Planning and Modelling system SharePoint site which is accessible to both Providers and the LSC. On entering the default page, this appears empty.

!Planning and Modelling section

Double-clicking on the Planning and Modelling option within the list will prompt you to log in again. This time the login dialog box looks different. If you are using a Windows XP platform, the format for logging on is shown below. An 'isp\' before the username is needed for this login.

!Login dialog box

Alternatively, if you are using as Windows 2000 or older platform, you may be required to log in as below. The correct format for logging in for this is shown below:

!Login dialog box
Once you have logged in, the SharePoint site will load towards the right.

The PaM SharePoint site is also based on the URL: https://teams.lsc.gov.uk/pam.

If you need to widen the screen, you can click on the Hide Link Browser button. This will hide the left frame and expand the browser. You can then click on the Show Link Browser button to bring back the browser list.

Including this key site within the application means that you do not need to navigate away from the application. This means you can, e.g. read any updated guidance whilst still in the PaM application or view the documents supporting the planning process.

If you navigate within the site, e.g. open a document from the Documents section, the Internet navigation buttons in the tab become active so you can navigate, back, forward or to the home location of the site.