1. Corporate tax reform

- The Government has published a document – ‘Corporate tax reform: delivering a more competitive system’ – which collects a series of corporate tax reforms into a single programme.
- What are Forum members’ reactions to this document?

2. UK tax competitiveness

- Tax system competitiveness needs to support the fiscal stability that is a precondition for business success
- The Government has prioritised reform of corporate tax. What more needs to be done to restore UK tax competitiveness in the medium/long term?
- What are the important factors for long term tax competitiveness? What direction should the Government aim to move the UK in over the next 5 or 10 years?
Forum meeting attendees:

Vodafone               Andy Halford
Diageo                 Dierdre Mahlan
CBI                    Richard Lambert
GE                     Mark Elborne
Ford Motor Company     Joe Greenwell
Amey                   Andrew Nelson
Standard Chartered     Richard Meddings
Oxford Business School Mike Devereux
Treasury               Mike Williams
HMRC                   Melanie Dawes

Forum members unable to attend this meeting:

RSA                    George Culmer
GSK                    Julian Heslop
Shell                  Simon Henry
Rolls Royce            Andrew Shilston